

SAMSUNG C&T

“Job Creation”

Opens on Jeff Benson, Submerged Arc Welder from CS Wind Canada.

Benson: My name is Jeff Benson. I'm a certified Submerged Arc Welder.

Cut to Darren Heuston, NDT Inspector for Quality Control, CS Wind Canada.

Heuston: My name is Darren Heuston and I'm an NDT Inspector for Quality Control.

Cut to Greg Bond, Submerged Arc Welder, CS Wind Canada.

Bond: My name is Greg Bond. I'm a Submerged Arc Welder in the Green Energy project.

Cut to Benson.

Benson: Before working here, I was in the automotive sector.

Cut to Heuston.

Heuston: I was bouncing between jobs.

Cut to Bond.

Bond: I worked in the automotive industry for 10 years before being laid off.

Cut to Benson:

Benson: Then I retrained myself in alternative energy.

Cut to Bond.

Bond: So happy that Ontario stepped up and took the lead on the Green energy project.

Cut to Benson.

Benson: Clean Energy means not having to deplete the World of its natural resources.

Cut to Heuston.

Heuston: Working on this project has created a bright and strong future for my family.

Cut to Bond.

Bond: I am building a cleaner future for my children.

SAMSUNG C&T

Cut to Benson.

Benson: I am proud to be a part of Ontario leading the World in alternative energy.

Cut to Bond.

Bond: The Green energy project is creating 16,000 jobs.

Cut to Heuston.

Heuston: And bright, strong futures for Ontario and its families.

Cut to Samsung C&T Logo.